

“Juvenilia Press provides a welcome and important look at the origins of literary genius.”

—Victorian Review

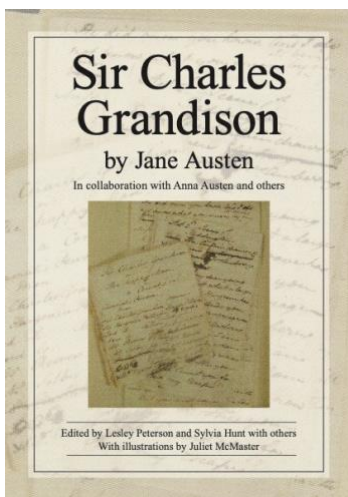

NEW EDITIONS

Tristram Jones: an autobiographical romance* by Edmund Gosse

Edited by Kathy Rees and Christine Alexander

Written in c. 1872, the manuscript has been archived at the Cambridge University Library since 1941. Published here for the first time, this Victorian coming-of-age story is an intriguing forerunner of Gosse's classic memoir, Father and Son (1907). Based on his experiences of starting a new life in London after a cloistered religious upbringing, and including striking parallels with his memoir, this witty novella chronicles a young man's ambitions, illusions, and blunders.

Sir Charles Grandison* by Jane Austen

Edited by Lesley Peterson and Sylvia Hunt with others
With Illustrations by Juliet McMaster

Starting at sixteen and later collaborating with her little niece Anna, Jane Austen composed a dramatic version, playfully abbreviated of Richardson's long novel Sir Charles Grandison. Edited from the manuscript at Chawton House Library, this edition comes with full notes and suggestions on production.

Juvenilia Press publishes scholarly volumes of the early writings of famous and not-so-famous authors. We are a non-profit research and teaching venture, with the aim of promoting the study of literary juvenilia, and we work with expert academic editors, postgraduates and other talented students to encourage professional skills in research, critical editing and the production of books.

Directed by Christine Alexander, hosted by the University of New South Wales since 2002, and founded by Juliet McMaster at the University of Alberta in 1994, Juvenilia Press has been instrumental in establishing the genre of literary juvenilia and inspiring the foundation of the ISLJ. We welcome your participation and support. Please recommend us to your libraries, for teaching and for gifts.

Online catalogue available on our website:

<https://www.arts.unsw.edu.au/juvenilia/>